WHERE DO THE PROFITS GO? Preliminary estimates furnished by the census bureau place the aggregate realized wealth of the country last June at $64,000,000,000, or an increase of $20,-000,000,000 since 1880. The question naturally arises where did that stupendous increase in wealth go? Who has it? Was it fairly and equitably distributed among all who sided by their labor in producing it? If it was not, what ciass of producers failed to receive their share? Is any class of our citizens complaining of injustice on that score? Ask the Farmers' Alliance, and you will get a prompt and decisive answer in the affirmative. The farmers have have not got much of that $20,000,000,000 of wealth accumulated in the past ten years. Hence their uprising against the existing order of things and their determination to take a hand in the management of affairs.

In his address at the tariff reform banquet in New York a few days ago Governor Boles of Iowa stated the case of the farmers of that state, showing or the hero, Mr. Al Hayne, a noble one, and that in the past five years they have lost Gaiveston.

money instead of accumulating anything whatever. Iowa is almost exclusively an agricultural state, only three per cent of the population being engaged in manufacturing. Statistics, said be, show that the average wages of a farm hand in that state is 70 cents a day and board, the lowest wages paid any class of laborers. And yet 800 out of 900 farmers who reported to the commissloner of statistics during the current year, claimed that the labor employed on their farms was at a loss. The value of the crops raised did not, at the market price, warrant the outlay for help. It costs $8 to produce an acre of corn in shape for the market. The market price of the corn, averaging thirty-three and a third bushels to the acre, was only $7.33, or 67 cents less than the cost of producing it. What is true of corn. he said, is true of the staple products of Iowa's soil, and had been so for the past five years. The farmers have been constantly and regularly falling behind in each of those years. We know also that this is true of Illinois farmers, if we may trust the last report of the agricultural bureau of that state, which declared that the aggregate losses of the farmers in the past year amounted to $11,000 .-000. If the farmers of Illinois and Iowa have been such heavy losers, those in other states cannot certainly have saved much, if anything. We may safely conclude then, that a mighty small part of the $20,000,000,000 of accumulated wealth afcressid, went into the farmers' wallets. They have not got it. Therefore some one else must have it. Who is that some one, or who are the fortunate Yew that have thus become enriched? They live in the East chiefly, and reside in palaces. They ride in tallyho coaches when on land, and sail in magnificent vachts when on the water. They belong mainly to that favored class, the owners of America's "infant industries" which the government has been so assiduously protecting for twenty-five or thirty years. The Bogus Divorce Business. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The revelations concerning the practices of the bogus divorce lawyers in New York form an interesting and instructive contribution to the literature of the marriage problem. It is evident that these swindlers have been doing an extensive and lucrative business, and they deserve all the punishment that can possibly b inflicted. But the fact re ains at the same time that their clients are equally culpable, and that the iniquitous work could not have been done without the guilty co-operation of men and women who had no good cause for seeking divorces. In a few instances, perhaps, the parties supposed that they were obtoming a legal and valid release from their connubial obligations; but as a general rule they knew that the thing was a fraud. The rule of sewas of itself a sufficient creev proof in that respect. Any in-telligent person understands that a business can not be honest which is carried on in a clandestine way and contrary to established methods, particularly in the matter of judicial proceedings. The case of ex-Mayor Pendleton of Fort Worth, Tex., which led to the exposure, is directly in point. It is useless for him to say that he acted in good faith. He was well aware that he was playing a false part, and trying to secure by stealthy and disreputable means a thing to which he was not justly entitled His own conduct was on a level with that of the attorneys whom he employed; and the same is true of a large majority of such applicants for divorces.

Suit Brought at New Orleans Upon a Transaction of Fifty Years Ago. Special to the Gazette.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Dec. 30 .- Suit was instituted here to-day on the part of Hope & Co. of Ameterdam, Holland. against the board of liquidation of the public debt of Louisiana, asking that the board fund the $4,018,626.48 worth of Louisiana bonds held by them. These bonds, which are known as citizens bank bonds, were issued half a century ago to aid the bank, which was a land bank, the state ordering them and guaranteeing their payment. The war so deprecisted the value of lands in Louisians that they became insufficient to pay these bonds when the matter was turned over to the state to settle. Hope & Co. the holders of the bonds, have been seeking for some time past to secure their payment. The board of liquidation paying no attention to them they have inally brought suit against it.

Wet Matting Used to Deaden the Sound Salaries Fixed by the City Council-No Negro Firemen-

A SUCCESSFUL HAUL. Epecial to the Gazette. Waco, Tex., Dec. 80 .- One of the neatest jobs of safe blowing ever done in this town was done just before daylight this morning. The White House saloon. 421 Franklin street, was entered some time during the latter part of the night through the back way. The proprietor, Mr. A. Laueri, had left the curtains down in front and a bright lamp burning in the saloon. When Mr. J. B. Hawvictorst, the barkeeper, entered the place this morning the house was full of smoke, and a glance at the safe showed that it had vielded to the artistic hand of the cracksman, and everything of value had been at their mercy. A great quantity of old worn out grass matting lay in front of the safe door. It was saturated with water. The joints of the safe were carefully filled with soap, and near the center bolt was a bole shout three-eighths of an inch in diameter. The outside of the door stood on its hinges, but all the inside of it lay loose upon the floor. Upon examination it was found about $60 in money had been secured. The theory is that the burglars used the wet matting to cover the safe up to kill the sound of the explo-In this they seemed to have succeeded thoroughly, for no one seems to have heard any report, though the saloon is in the heart of the city with many inhabited buildings all round it. sion last night, and among other things resemded their action appropriating $2000 for the building of a hospital, proposing to accept the $3500 tendered by the citizens' hospital committee and build the hospital with that amount. The ordinance regulating fees and salaries of city officials was introduced and passed. The city secretary's salary was raised from $1200 to $1500 per annum. The city attorney's salary was also raised to $1500. The city health physiclan's salary remains unchanged, at $200 per annum. The city marshal's salary remains unchanged, at $1200 per annum The street commissioner's salary remains unchanged, at $900 per annum. The salary of the superintendent of public free schools continues unchanged, at $2000 per annum. The sanitary policeman's salary continues unchanged at $780 per annum Mounted policemen's salaries continue $900 per annum. Foot policemen's salaries remain $720 per annum. The tor's salary was raised to $720 from $600. The salary of the bridge watchman was filled with $720, which is not a change. The salary of the city engineer was left blank and a motion prevailed to go on with the present plan of hiring an engineer. The blanks of the city assessor and collector were filled the same as last year except as to occupation tax. Alderman West explained that collection of occupation tax required a quarterly canvass of the city. By the old ordinance the occupation tax was lumped. On motion the assessor and collector was allowed 5 per cent for collection of occupation tax. Otherwise his compensation

The fire commission, composed of the aldermanic fire committee and the chief of the fire department, together with the foreman of the fire companies, reported adversely last night on the application of the negro fire company. The objection is that the white firemen would not work beside negroes at fires.

Some little difficulty has arisen hetween Mr. R. C. Storrie, cedar block pavement contractor, and the Citizens railway company. The street railway company refuse to allow their track removed on Washington street so the grad-

A FURIOUS BATTLE.

The Soldiers, Maddened by the Indians' Treachery, Fought Like Demons,

And There was No Let Up as Long a One of Big Foot's Davils Could be Sighted-Two Strikes Defeated.

A FIGHT WITH "TWO STRIKES." OMAHA, NEB., Dec. 30 .- The Bee's special from Rushville, Neb., says adrices from the seat of war gives news of another encounter between troops and Indians at a point within four miles of the agency. The Seventh and Ninth cavalry were just coming from yesterday's battlefield, followed at .some distance by their provision train. On reaching the point named a large band of Indians. headed by Chief "Two Strikes," dashed suddenly upon the train, captured it when the cavalry wheeled and gave pursuit. In the battle which followed over thirty Indians were wounded and no soldiers were killed. According to a late report the Two Strikes Indians had vesterday been considered peaceable and subdued, but their sudden change of mind causes the gravest fears here that perhaps none of the so-called friends can be relied on. However, word from Gen. Brooke to the sattlers to-day is somewhat reassuring, it being to the effect that a great body of the savages have remained loyal all the while and that nearly all the rebels are dead. He further says the settlers here are not in News is also at hand that Col. Henry is approaching the agency with 700 In-Alans captured in the Bad Lands. This is believed to include all the remnant there is on the reservation and hopes are entertained of a speedy settlement. It has cost the ives of about 250 Indians and about thirty or thirty-five soldiers killed and wounded to effect this result, If indeed it may be said that place is yet established. The bodies of gallant Caps. Waldiers arrived at noon from the agency and will be sent to Fort noon the nearest military post. Rushville is crowded with settlers. The churches and all public rooms are thrown open and no effort is being spared to make the refugees comfortable. They are previously reported on the advice of Gen. Brooke. They are not only ready to defend their homes, but many are anxious to enlist with the regulars if further fighting should occur. OMAHA, Dec. 80 -The Barrie OMAHA, Walley Dec. 80 - The Bee correspondent w Wounded Knee creek telegraphs as Flows concerning yesterday's tattle:

In the morning as soon as the ordinary military work of the day was done Maj Whitesides determined upon disarmina the Indians at once, and at o'clock the camp of Big was surrounded by the Seventh- esvalry and scouts. The Indians were sitting in a balf-circle, and four Hotchkiss guns were placed upon a hill about 200 vards distant. Every preparation was made, not especially to fight, but to show the Indians the futility of resistance They seemed to recognize this fact, and when Mai. Whitesides ordered them to come up twenty at a time and give up their arms they came, but not with their guns in sight. Of the first twenty but two displayed arms. These they gave up sulleniv, and observing the futility of that method of procedure. Maj. Whitsides ordered a detachment of K and A troop on foot to enter the tepees and search them. This work had hardly been entered upon when

TWENTY DESPERATE INDIANS turned upon the soldiers, who were gathered closely about the tepess, and immediately a storm of firing was poured upon the military. It was as though the order to search had been the signal. The latter, not anticipating any such action, had been gathered in very closely and the first firing was terribly disastrous to them. The reply was immediate, however, and in an instant it seemed that the spot in which the Indian camp was set was a sunken Vesuvius. The soldiers, maddened at the sight of their comrades, hardly awaited the command, and in a moment the whole was a sheet of fire, above which smoke rolled obscuring the central scene from view. Through this horrible curtain the signal Indians could be seen at times flying before the fire, but after the first discharge from the carbines of the troopers there was but few of them left. They

FELL ON ALL SIDES like grain in the course of a cythe. The Indians and soldiers lay together, and the wounded fought on the ground where they fell. Toward the bluffs the few remaining warriors fied, turning occasionally to fire, but now evidently caring more for escape than battle. Only the wounded Indians seemed possessed of the courage of devils, and from the ground where they had fallen they continued to fire until their ammunition was gone or they were killed by the soldlers. Both sides forgot everything except loading and firing of guns. It was only in the early part of the affray that hand-to hand tighting was seen. Carbines were used as clubs, sabres gleamed, and war clubs circled in the air and came down like thunderbolts, but this only for a short time. The I dians could not stand the storm from the sabres, they had not hoped to. It was only a stroke of the life before death. The remnants fled, and the battle became a hunt. It was now that THE ARTILLERY was called into requisition. Before, the fighting was so close that the guns could not be trained without danger of death to the soldiers. Now, with the Indians flying it was easier to reach them. The Gatling and Hotchkiss guns were trained and then began heavy firing, which lasted half an hour, with frequent heavy volleys of musketry and cannons. a war of determination now with the troopers. It was difficult to restrain the troops-tactics were almost abandoned. About the only tactics was to kill, and for several minutes the engagement thus went on, until not a live Indian was in sight. ORDERED TO THE BAD LANDS.

OMAHA, NEB., Dec. 30.—The Bee's special from Rose Bud Agency, S. D., says two troops of the Ninth Cavalry and three companies of the Eighth Infantry have been prepared to move at a moment's notice. Last night orders came for them to start at once for the Bad Lands. pickets at Rose Bud have seen Indians signaling. With the looking glass t scheme of twenty young bucks to steal discovered. The arrest of the first man who tries it resulted.

SAN ANTONIO MINISTERS.

They Meet and Resolve to Petition the Legislature for Certain tabbath Legislation-Special to the Gazette.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Dec. 30. - With Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal diocese presiding, the Ministers' association of San Antonio met yesterday and resolved to petition the legislature for an amended Sunday law. The state law aiready forbids firing of guns within a half mile of any place of public worship. It is now proposed to stop brass bands. circus outfits and other processions parading the streets on the Sabbath. The ministers claim that one circus parade will break up a half dozen Sabbath schools. The full form of the bill to be submitted is as follows:

Article 187, A-Any person or persons who shall bereafter on Sunday, upon any of the streets, avenues or rublic highways of this state, within one-half mile of any church or school house, by loud or vociferous talking or swearing or by any noise made by the use of musical or other instruments, disturb any congregation or part of a congrega tion assembled for religious worship and conducting themselves in a lawful manner, or who shall on Sunday disturb any congregation or part of a congregation assembled for the purpose of conducting or participating in a Sunday school or transacting any business relating to the interest of religious worship or Sunday school, and conducting themselves in a lawful manner, shall be fined in any sum not less than $25 nor more than $100, and may be imprisoned in the county fail not exceeding thirty days, at the dictation of the jury, provided that this law shall not apply to the case of funerals.

It is the opinion that owing to the granger character of the incoming legislature almost any restrictive Sabbatarian legislation can be procured. The saloon keepers in particular are anticipating a bard time.

REALTY AND BUILDING.

Active Operations Begun on the Cotton Mill.

A Number of Good Residences Going Up New Street Car L no Going Down-A Big Trade on Foct.

Active work has begun on the big cotton mill east of the city. A number of carloads of brick are on the ground, the trembles for the foundation have been dug, part of the foundation is in and lumber for a large boarding house for the forty men who will erect the building is on the ground. An artesian well has been drilled and good water obtained. The foreman of the work says it is the intention to have the mill completed by May.

The Maddoxia Palace stables east of the city are about finished. A fine three-quarter mile track has been made and work will soon begin on a mile track. Several streets and drive ways have been graded and graveled through the park. R. E. Maddox has expended $25,000 in the improvements.

Jesse J. Melton has erected a $3000 residence on Burnet and Bluff streets. Mrs. Morrison has completed her two two-story residences on West Belknap street. South Main street is to be graded and graveled and placed in first-class coudltion from the reservation to the hospital. The track of the Arlington Heights street railway is going down on lower Jones street. It will connect with the Seventh street line on Rusk street. John Ratican has erected a two-story stone and iron-front store building on East Front street. It is a great improvement to the East Side. The Union land company, R. Vickery and others have carried the cotton mill boulevard to a point about two and one-half miles east of the city. The Union land company has completed a fine two-etory residence on its' property. Several similar residences will be built at once. Bessle street is rapidly becoming a residence thoroughfare.
